Bound Cargoes in Cars.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Secretary Tracy, with the approval of the President, issued a circular amending the existing regulation in regard to importations under consular seal, so as to require an officer of the United States, authorized to act in the premises in foreign contiguous territory, to a careful comparison of the contents of cars with the manifest, and to close and seal the openings of the cars. On arrival at any frontier port, of cars thus secured with consular seals, entry in triplicate will be required of contents of such cars, showing marks, numbers of packages, contents, quantity, value, consignor and consignee. Such entry may be made by the agent of the railroad company and need not be verified by oath. The basis of the entry will be the manifest accompanying car, and it will not be necessary to unload merchandise unless the manifest is regarded by the collector as too indefinite for the purpose of making the entry, or he has other valid reasons for an inspection of the contents of the car. Assistant Secretary Spaulding said the object of the amendment is solely for the protection of revenue. Collectors are enjoined to take all proper measures to prevent unnecessary detention of cars. If, on examination, consular seals are found to be in tact and entry made as required, the car can be further secured by custom locks and forwarded to destination by the duly bonded route. If consular seals have been removed or tampered with before arrival at the frontier, the car can be detained and entry required as in the case in ordinary importations.

Scattered by Storm.

DETROIT, July 3.—A yacht club fleet of twenty-six yachts left here last night to take part in the regatta to-day at New Baltimore. The Michigan fleet was caught in a heavy wind storm on Lake St. Clair, and so far only seven boats have reached the destination. Much anxiety is felt for the safety of the other nineteen boats and their crews.

CHICAGO, July 3.—A private message from Detroit says the missing yachts on Lake St. Clair have all been accounted for and that their passengers are safe.

Russian Rye a Failure.

LONDON, July 3.—The Russian rye crop will be bad and there will be no surplus for export. Large German orders have been sent to the United States and Canada. It is reported that Russia is also buying supplies in America.

William Henry Smith announces it is the intention of the government to finish the present session of Parliament at the end of the month.

Britons Beat the Boers.

CAPETOWN, July 3.—A body of armed Boers composed of about 100 men and their families crossed the Limpopo yesterday to found the Republic of the North in Mashonaland. They were met by police and troops in the employ of the British South African Company who drove the Boers back and arrested their leaders.

Duel to Death.

KNOXVILLE (Tenn.), July 3.—Yesterday afternoon George Jones and William Newton, two well-known farmers of East Tennessee, fought a duel on the State line over a piece of property. Both were killed, being shot to death.

Poisoned by Roots.

BIRD ISLAND (Mich.), July 3.—Two of James Curran's children died at Birch Cootie yesterday and another is not expected to live. They ate poisonous roots which they found on the prairie.

Army Orders.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Secretary Proctor to-day signed the order abolishing the three great military divisions of the United States. These were the Atlantic, Pacific and Missouri, commanded respectively by Generals Howard, Ruger and Miles. By to-day's orders the departments remain intact. The purpose is to make the department commanders report directly to Major-General Schofield, commanding the army, and Secretary of War, instead of, as heretofore, reporting to their division commanders. One of the features of the order is in the assignment of General Wauke to the command of the Department of the Columbia, which he earnestly desired to command as it was there his first military service was rendered, and where he wishes to retire next year. Major-General Howard is assigned to the command of the Department of the East, with headquarters at Governors Island, New York harbor. Major-General Miles is assigned to the command of the Department of the Missouri, which will embrace the States of Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma and Indian Territory, with headquarters at Chicago. Brigadier-General Brooks is assigned to the command of the Department of the Platte, with headquarters at Omaha, Neb., and State of Colorado added to that department. Brigadier-General Merritt is assigned to the command of the Department of Dakota, with headquarters at St. Paul. Brigadier-General Stanley is assigned to the command of the Department of Texas, with headquarters at San Antonio, Texas. Brigadier-General Ruger is assigned to the command of the Department of California, with headquarters at Los Angeles.

Wine Exports of California.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The Pacific Wine and Spirit Review gives statistics showing exports of California wines and brandies during the first six months of this year. Five thousand eight hundred and six cases or two million four hundred and thirty-one thousand gallons of wine of a total value of $1,173,000 were shipped by sea to New York and to foreign countries as against 4,154 cases or 2,011,000 gallons of a value of $872,000 in 1890. The brand exports aggregated 260 cases, or 103,000 gallons of a value of $78,000 as against an exportation of 75,000 gallons for the year ending June 30, 1890.

Keystone Bank Ripples.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—The presiding judge of the Court of Common Pleas this morning handed down a decision upholding the authority of the city council to appoint a committee, vested with power to subpoena witnesses and place them under oath before receiving their testimony. The decision of the court arose through a suit in equity brought against Yard, who refused to be sworn or to testify before the Keystone Bank Investigating Committee. Yard had been indicted by the Grand Jury for conspiracy with ex-City Treasurer Bardsley to unlawfully use public funds.

Sugar Trust Dividends.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The National Bank was thronged to-day by stockholders in the sugar trust, as word was received that the bank would resume the payment of dividends which fell due yesterday. A dispatch from Poughkeepsie this morning stated the injunction restraining officers of the company from paying out dividends had been vacated. The judge dissolved the injunction restraining the officers, it is claimed, owing to faulty allegations in the papers.

Crops in India.

CALCUTTA, July 3.—The weather improved during the week but more rain is needed everywhere except in Burma and Assam. If present conditions continue for another fifteen days there will be grave cause to fear a heavy crop failure. Extensive swarms of locusts are appearing throughout the whole of Northern India and also in the Province of Bengal.

Peter's Peace.

ROME, July 3.—The Vatican authorities have requested the papal authorities at foreign courts to investigate contributions to compensate for speculation losses in Peter's peace fund.

Assistant Attorney.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Attorney-General Miller appointed Elisha N. Sanford Special Assistant of the United States Attorney for service at Prescott, Arizona.

Fred Douglas Returns.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Fred Douglas, United States Minister to Hayti, arrived here this morning on the steamer Prince William.

Frightful Accident.

YOUNGSTOWN (Ohio), July 3.—Nineteen passengers were killed and burned to cinders at 3 o'clock this morning by a freight train telescoping a passenger train on the Erie Railroad at Ravenna, Ohio, thirty miles west of here. Thirty or forty are injured. The passenger train was standing at the depot when the freight train struck it. Two sleepers and a day coach took fire and were entirely consumed. The train was bound for New York and heavily loaded with passengers going to spend the Fourth of July with friends.

A special train was sent from here with surgeons and nurses to care for the wounded.

The fire spread so rapidly that it was impossible to rescue many of the injured, and they were cremated in the flames. The day coach contained a party of people from Findlay coming here to spend the Fourth.

CINCINNATI, July 3.—The Ravenna wreck evidently caught the Findlay and Cincinnati passengers exclusively. The Chicago vestibule train was met at Maroon Junction by the through New York sleeper from Cincinnati, where the latter attached to the rear of the train. Last night there was such an unusual number of passengers from here that two sleepers instead of one were attached. These evidently were the two reported destroyed in the wreck. The day coach, which was in the rear and which was going from Findlay to Youngstown, would naturally be placed in the rear of the Cincinnati sleepers, and as a special car, would not be sent out with less than fifty passengers. It probably is that the casualties may all be limited to that car. Telegrams have been received here from Cincinnati people who were in one of the sleepers saying they had escaped.

PITTSBURG, July 3.—A dispatch from Alliance, Ohio, gives the following account of the Ravenna wreck: The day coach on the rear of the train was completely telescoped and 19 passengers killed and 38 badly injured. The day coach and two sleepers forward took fire and burned up. Many bodies were burned almost unrecognizable. Many passengers on the train were asleep when the awful crash came and a number were crushed to death in their berths. A terrible scene followed. There were cries for help from all parts of the train, mingled with dying moans of others whose lives were being crushed out. Steam escaped from the freight engine, and soon the wreck caught fire and the flames crowded upon those who were held fast in the debris. A few persons who escaped without injury worked with almost superhuman power in their efforts to rescue the more unfortunate ones. In several instances persons were slowly burned to death while pleading with their last breath for help which could not be rendered.

The wreck was most complete. Cars were piled upon and across each other, almost in a solid mass. Thus the small party of rescuers worked at a disadvantage. As rapidly as the injured were rescued they were conveyed to the station, where physicians from Ravenna and other near points rendered all the assistance possible. The fire was finally extinguished, but not until several persons perished. In a couple hours the company had responded and relief trains with a corps of physicians and nurses arrived from Cleveland and other points, and the injured were given every attention. Those able to be removed were sent to Cleveland and placed in the hospital there. The dead were removed to rooms of undertakers in Ravenna, where they will await identification. Some are so badly burned and disfigured that it will be a difficult task to identify them. The coroner will begin an inquest this afternoon. The company officials now here will render all assistance possible and will make complete investigation. It would appear the whole accident was due to the carelessness of some one in leaving a switch open. The heavy freight train was running at the rate of 40 miles per hour and it struck the passenger train with full force. It is rumored that three members of the Pittsburgh baseball team were killed in the wreck, but this is not believed as they play another game in Cincinnati to-day.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The following dispatch was received at the Erie railroad office in this city from Cleveland: The freight ran into the rear end of No. 8 at Ravenna station at 2:32 a. m. The engineer of No. 8 was doing some work on his engine. He had been standing still about eight minutes. Had a flag out thirty-five car lengths on a straight line. The engine and sleepers were burned. As near as I can learn at present there were seven killed and about ten injured.

PITTSBURG, July 3.—A Ravenna Ohio special gives the following list of dead and injured. The dead are: David Reihman, F. Hoff, A. Dunthorp, W. Kane, F. Burns, J. Kimball, J. De-men, J. Coyle, O. Harding, D. Ryan, D. Cassidy, W. Newcombe, P. Nolan, A. Nuno and an unknown. All of these were taken out of the wreck dead and all but three burned to a crisp. Those Colville was taken out of the wreck alive. He was terribly crushed and burned and his sufferings were awful. In an agonizing voice he called to a friend, "Billy, for God's sake get an ax and kill me." He died soon after. Henry Gilden was badly injured and died soon after being taken to the hotel. Among the injured were Geo. Smith, Jno. Cowden, H. C. DeGraff, James McGill, Jno. Keating, Jonah Clark and A. P. Jones. Their injuries consisted principally of broken limbs and none are believed to be fatally hurt. Thomas Hanley and Joseph Morgan, two others, are in a serious condition, and it is feared will not recover. The dead and injured were employed in the Richardson Glass Works at Findlay, which shut down yesterday for the summer and they were on their way to Corning, N. Y., their home. They were all on the extra car attached to the train and the only one known to have been killed on the sleeper was the nurse.

BOSTON, July 3.—A Ravenna (Ohio) special says: It is feared that twenty people were killed in the Erie wreck there. George Helman, engineer of the freight train, in an interview, said he could not see how he could be blamed. He further said: "I could have stopped the train, but the rails were wet and the sand would not take. I was not warned in time, and I could not see the lights on the rear of the passenger train, owing to the darkness and fog. I reversed, my lever as quickly as possible, and with the fireman, jumped from the train, sustaining a severe fracture of the right hand."

Helman seems to think the brakeman of the passenger train, Fred Boynton, could have flagged him from a greater distance.

CLEVELAND, July 3.—A special from Youngstown, Ohio, says: At Ravenna the worst railroad wreck which ever happened on the western reserve, excepting the Ashtabula horror, occurred this morning, resulting in the death of twenty-five people and serious if not fatal injury of at least six more. Fire added its terror to the already frightful scenes and the bruised and charred remains of victims badly burned, while one poor woman was pinioned in the wreckage and cremated before the eyes of the spectators who worked to secure her release until driven off by the flames. The east-bound Erie vestibule No. 8, due at Youngstown at 2:55 a. m. was very late and was running on orders. When a stop was made at Ravenna, the engineer and fireman of the passenger train went to work to repair the engine and the train was again detained several minutes. A flagman was sent back, but went only a few feet, at most only two car lengths, when suddenly around the curve, west of the city, came train No. 82, composed of Swift's meat cars. The train was running twenty-five miles an hour and coming down a heavy grade. The engineer supposed he had a clear track, and it being a through train, he was not expected to stop at Ravenna. He called for brakes and reversed his engine, but all to no purpose. On came the freight train with but slightly decreased speed, and no word of warning could be given to the people on the doomed train. A few feet west of the station the engineer and fireman jumped, alighting safely. A few moments afterward there was the silence of death and then commenced the most frightful cries ever heard. The moans of the dying, the piteous cries for help from the imprisoned and helpless passengers and mutilated and bloody remains of the dead seen through the fragments of debris formed a scene of horror that no pen can picture. The freight engine had gone clear through a day coach in the rear, through the sleeper, and buried itself in the second sleeper, the third car of the train. There was nothing left of the rear of the train but a mass of debris, and the sides of the third car stood about the monster engine as if to hold it prisoner and prevent further damage. This scene lasted but a moment, when little tongues of flame sprang up here and there and soon the whole wreck was burning. It was a sickening sight. Two scores of imprisoned passengers were in the debris, and the flames lighting up the surroundings with a lurid glare, served only to intensify the horror. As soon as the dazed passengers in the other cars recovered themselves, they rushed to the rescue of their unfortunate companions. The fire department was immediately telephoned for and every one in that end of the little city rushed to the scene of the disaster. Hundreds soon surrounded the wreck, but to little purpose. Awful ruin had been wrought and little was left to do but secure and care for the remains of the dead. A few passengers, easily reached, were promptly rescued and several bodies of the dead and dying were carried to the depot platform.

One poor woman was seen pinioned in the wreck, though apparently but slightly hurt, whose appeals for help will never be forgotten by the spectators. Flames had not reached her but were slowly eating their way to her. Strong and willing hands swung axes as they were never swung before. It was a battle between life and death. As the heat became more intense, those who were no longer able to withstand the heat gave place to others with the rapidity of lightning, but it was useless to fight. The choppers had to fall back and abandon the woman to her fate. In a moment the flames caught her dress and instantly leaped to her head. Her piteous cries of "save me, save me," as the flames enveloped her form, and the expression of agony on her face as she sank down in the debris, caused the strongest hearts to grow sick with horror. How many more such frightful tragedies, though unseen, were enacted within the burning ruins in those brief moments will never be known.

The remains of the dead were carried to the depot and from there taken to an improvised morgue, where they presented a ghastly sight, though not nearly so badly mutilated as might have been expected from the nature of the accident. Some of them are already identified and it is believed that all the others can be as soon as their friends arrive. By 9:15 the wreckers had the track clear and trains were able to pass. A tramp who was stealing a ride on the rear end of the train, said to a reporter that the flagman did not go back over half a car length, and there was no time for the engineer to stop the freight train. He has been arrested and held as a witness. There is a stretch of straight track west of the depot at least half a mile long, but the grade is very heavy and it is very difficult to stop a train.

Mount Tamalpais Fire.

SAN RAFAEL, July 3.—The situation on Mount Tamalpais is not changed materially. Last night it was expected the fire would burn the hopper and trestles of the San Rafael water main but a gang of twenty men were at that point, and by almost superhuman work, succeeded in saving that property. The men back fired the woods on the westerly side of Lagunitas Lake and at present there is no danger of San Rafael losing her water supply. The foreman of the water company felt so confident that no further danger would ensue that he discharged a number of his men this morning. About 9 o'clock this morning again the fire started in the upper end of Ross Valley, and, owing to a strong southwest wind now blowing, it is rapidly encroaching on the residence portion of the valley. Reinforcements have been sent to battle the flames at that place. Should the fire crowd its way to Ross Valley, it would no doubt, cause great damage to many elegant residences of that place.

In the direction of Bolinas the back-fire started to save the water company is making rapid strides northward and westward. It is reported that the fire is raging on the stage road to Bolinas, and it is not improbable that to-day's stage from Bolinas will have to make the trip via Sausalito. The fire has been extinguished at Tamalpais, but in Mill Valley and the gulches it is still burning. Reports from Mill Valley and vicinity do not express any alarm, as the wind is now blowing from that section and a gang of men are constantly on the alert. It is impossible to say when the fire will be extinguished, and many thousands of acres may be burned over before the fire will be completely controlled.

Militia Called Out.

OLYMPIA, July 3.—Governor Ferry last night issued orders to Colonel Haines to aid the civil authorities in disarming all bodies of armed men in Franklin, Grinnell or elsewhere in the county where a riot or breach of the peace is threatened, and to call out the entire first regiment of national guards if necessary. After disarmament the military will be withdrawn, leaving the Sheriff and his deputies to enforce the law and preserve the peace.

General Miles Escapes.

CHICAGO, July 3.—General Miles and Captain Huggins, his Chief of Staff, were on the train wrecked at Ravenna this morning. They were on their way to Buffalo, where a reunion of the Army of the Potomac is being held to-day. A dispatch received from them stated neither was injured. Several other Chicago people were on the train, but all escaped injury.

Charles E. Clarke, murderer of Captain Logan, sentenced to be hanged, died in the county jail at San Francisco this morning from consumption.

To-morrow being the Fourth of July, there will be no paper issued from this office.

In order to present to the world what Nevada is capable of doing in an agricultural way, the GAZETTE will arrange anything sent to it, in an attractive manner at the Pavilion during Fair week. Apples and other fruit, grain of all kinds, potatoes of different varieties, vegetables of every description, hay, etc., will be arranged, due credit given, and everything necessary to make an attractive display, carried out. We make this offer in order to enable those who cannot come to the Fair to send something; and again a farmer who cannot afford the time, for instance, of preparing but one box of apples for exhibition would hesitate about putting it in alone, when if exhibited in a State collection it would show off to better advantage. Parties sending in any article can rest assured of having it properly entered, and if awarded a premium the same will be forwarded to them as soon as collected. Exhibits are respectfully solicited, not only from the farmers in Nevada, but from those in Lassen, Modoc, Sierra and Plumas counties, California.

Allen Bragg, Editor of the Reno GAZETTE, was in Truckee last week, and it is evident that he noticed the beautiful Truckee river with volumes of thought and when he returned home he penned an editorial giving expression to the idea which the subject inspired. Of course, in order to please his readers he used the word Nevada, but the exact locality where he would locate the industries which he mentions is anywhere between Truckee and Reno.—Truckee Republican.

The railroad facilities Reno is possessed of makes this the most favorable location for manufacturers, but if power is all that is wanted, there is lots of it anywhere between Lake Tahoe and Pyramid. Reno, however, with her railroad advantages, is unexcelled for any of the industries named. The GAZETTE has been "inspired" a long time and has contained many columns, first and last, on the same subject.

THE Journal this morning holds to the belief that the McKinley bill is responsible for Director Leech's policy of cutting down the wages of the workmen in the Carson Mint ten per cent. It is a wonder that the Journal does not hold the McKinley bill responsible for the unfortunate shooting that occurred this morning; there would be just as much reason to it. It will not be at all surprising if that paper should claim that the McKinley bill is responsible for the hot weather we are having, for it apparently thinks its readers will swallow any statement it makes, regardless of truth or common sense.

STATISTICS of immigration for the last decade shows that 2,447,461 male immigrants only 26,267 were of the professional class and 514,552 skilled laborers, the remainder being unskilled laborers or of no stated occupations. Of course, such an immigration tends to reduce the value of unskilled labor. The addition to the capital of the country is not in proportion to the addition to its labor. Of late years the average amount of property brought in by immigrants has largely fallen off, though it was never very large. Many of those now coming have little beside the clothes they stand in.

RUSSIA is giving German settlers in her border provinces the alternative of becoming Russian subjects or immigrating. It is just what Germany has been doing with the Poles in her Eastern provinces. Both nations are getting rid of superfluous flesh in training for a fight.

BEING A SWELL.

How It Is Possible to Manage It on a Small Salary.

How do I manage to be a howling swell on a salary of $1,200 a year? repeated young Trotter, of the treasury department, to a Washington Star reporter. Why, my dear boy, it's the simplest thing in the world. I economize on the necessities of life so as to devote my income as far as possible to luxuries. I can go without a meal with entire philosophy, but to forego a cigar when I want one would make me feel poor and occasion me corresponding distress.

I pay $2.50 a week for a comfortable hall bedroom. I am never there except for sleeping and dressing purposes, and it serves me as well as if it were a palatial apartment. Why should I squander money in that way? For my meals I go to restaurants. Washington has the cheapest eating houses in the United States, and I do the thing frugally, without starving myself in the least. My annual expenditure for food and lodging is certainly not more than $175.

That leaves me a clear $822 for clothing, incidentals and amusements. In the last category the most expensive item is a horse. That costs me $20 a month. It is well worth the money, because a horse is not only a source of essential to what you call well-being. I have a cash establishment—such as are to be found in every city—where, by paying the money down, I can get my garments made to order for little more than half the fashionable tailors' prices. By practicing this method I can dress like a lord, including all underclothing, collars and cuffs, and so forth, on $200 a year. Washing is an extra. For my neckties I get 1 1/2 yards of some thick, handsome silk, white or blue, and induce one of my young lady acquaintances to cut the stuff in two lengths; and hem the cut edges, so as to make two four-in-hands, which I tie myself, of course. If you know where to go for them you can buy the hand-somest possible patent leather shoes—"ticks"—for summer use, at $2.50 a pair. White gaiters do not cost much, and there are few additions to the dress that contribute more to a generally swell effect. The spring overcoat I have on cost only $26, and you will not find a more stylish one in Washington.

Subtract $225 for clothing and really necessary incidentals from $822, and you find that I have $597—half of my entire income—to throw away upon nothing in particular, that is of importance. In summer I have one month's vacation, which I always spend with friends in one place or another, so that the outing costs me very little. Here it is taken for granted that youthful beaux are poor, and that very little is expected of them. Men are scarce that they only have to be polite and presentable in order to find themselves acceptable in fashionable drawing rooms.

If a man would be well dressed, however, it is all important that he should take care of his clothes. Let him take off his best things when he gets home, hang up his coat and fold up his trousers on a shelf, with the creases together. It costs very little to dress well—much less, in fact, than many persons spend in dressing badly. The thing is well worth studying. In another way also it pays to be well dressed. A man who is so is better received everywhere. His attire is a letter of recommendation to strangers, and even his friends cannot help according him more consideration on the strength of it.

HOW ONE WOMAN LIVES.

She Makes a Good Income from Her Knowledge of Table Dressing.

There is no reason nowadays why any woman with brains shouldn't make a good living. The Ladies' Home Journal tells of a young lady who turned to practical account her fondness for ordering and supervising an elaborate menu, and is now a professional "table dresser." Her duty is to superintend the details of a state breakfast, luncheon or dinner. If desired she makes out the bill of fare, for which she does the marketing. Everything goes on under her direction, from the garnishing of the dishes to the serving of the coffee. She arranges the flowers, attends to the lighting, and into each function interpolates some dainty, original conceit. Perceiving that another service was needed she has joined to her profession that of decorating the drawing room and the dressing rooms for company. With her help the house mistress is able to be occupied with her friends until it is time to dress, and yet have no solicitude concerning the preparations. Of course it costs something, but there are wealthy people who think nothing of that.

MOHAMMEDAN CONVICTS.

They Are Exalted Among Men in Their Own Country.

A Mussulman having served his term in prison is regarded almost as a saint, no matter as to the crime for which he has been condemned. For a Moslem to say that he has been confined in prison is to make a claim upon the respect and admiration of his fellow believers. A certain Mohammedan was released recently from prison after a term of three years for forgery. On his way to his home he was met by a crowd of his fellow believers, who cheered him loudly and slaughtered he goats before him, over the carcasses of which he had to step. For three days afterward his house was crowded with visitors coming to congratulate him and to express their respect and admiration for him. Among them were the most prominent men of the Mohammedan community of the city. Nor were these ostentatious expressions of disapproval of the punishment he had suffered, for his guilt had been proven to the satisfaction of his most ardent friends and defenders.

Jews as Soldiers.

According to statistics, says the Jewish World, a large proportion of soldiers of all arms in the Austro-Hungarian regiments who have received medals and decorations for conspicuous bravery on the battlefield are Jews. "A further striking testimony to the soldier-like qualities of our coreligionists is offered by the fact that the only gold medal for bravery possessed among the sixteen different hussar regiments adorns the breast of a Jew, Herr Wolf Bardach, who has only recently been elevated to the peerage by the emperor."

MISCELLANEOUS.

CONSTIPATION

Affects half the American people yet there is only one preparation of Sarsaparilla that acts on the bowels and reaches this important trouble, and that is Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It relieves it in 24 hours, and an occasional dose prevents return. We refer by permission to C. E. Elkington, 125 Locust Avenue, San Francisco; J. H. Brown, Potomac; H. S. Wain, Geary Court, San Francisco, and hundreds of others who have used it in constipation. One letter is a sample of hundreds. Elkington writes: "I have been for years subject to bilious headaches and constipation. Have been so bad for a year back have had to take a physic every other night or else I would have a headache. After taking one bottle of J. V. S., I am in splendid shape. It has done wonderful things for me."

For sale by S. J. Hodgkinson, Reno.

Peculiar

In Combination, Proportion, and Process of preparation, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 does one dollar." Other medicines require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered."

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is none of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has attained such popularity in so short a time.

Is Peculiar to Itself.

Peculiar in the originality and effectiveness of its advertising, its methods are continually being copied by competitors.

Peculiar in the way it wins the people's confidence, one bottle always sells another.

A Wonder Worker.

I used two boxes and believe that I am cured, as I have not been troubled with them for the past year. I cheerfully recommend them to all who suffer."

HOW MONEY GOES.

What Defaulters Do with Their Stolen Funds.

"Where did the money go?" That is the question which is always asked as soon as the announcement is made that a trusted bank cashier or a high-salaried chief clerk has become a defaulter to the extent of many thousands of dollars.

Experience shows that in nine cases out of ten the answers are always the same. The funds were lost in stock speculation.

It is a curious fact that bank officials who speculate are invariably bulls on the market. They never sell stocks short, that is, for a decline, but prefer to purchase them in anticipation of an advance.

So far, investigation into the bank troubles in Philadelphia has not shown exactly where John Bardsley, the trusted City Treasurer, lost the two millions which he is charged with having misappropriated.

It is common gossip in the street, however, that a good portion of this sum was lost through Philadelphia stock brokers.

It is known that Bardsley was hand in glove with the members of the pool which was dealing in Reading stock and income bonds and it is reasonable to suppose that a great part of the money went in losses and brokers' commissions.

The Reading securities have all declined from 20 to 30 points since within a year, and the losses in them must have been enormous. The first and second and third income bonds have depreciated immensely, and the stock which sold at $53 a year ago is now under $30.

John C. Lucas and Gideon W. Marsh, the former president of the Keystone Bank, were notoriously prominent in their speculations in the Reading securities, and their losses are believed to have reached the million mark.

Reading has been an unfortunate speculation all along for Philadelphia, and the failures and embroilments that can be traced to its influence are many.

NOT IN IT.

The Truckee Republican Takes the "Gazette" to Task.

In commenting on the GAZETTE item about the Donner Lake hidden-treasure find the Truckee Republican says: "If Mr. Bragg cared for his reputation as a truthful journalist he should have ascertained the facts before publishing the above. Had he done so the publication would not have been made. Had he wished, he could have seen the Donner money and also the Kaiser collection, the former being in the possession of Mr. Reynolds and the latter in the possession of Mrs. Keiser. We are not aware that Mr. McGlashan has any interest in the money found at Donner Lake other than such interest as would arise from that gentleman being the author of the 'History of the Donner Party.' The GAZETTE does Mr. McGlashan a gross injustice."

The GAZETTE published the story as it learned it from no less than five reliable persons, and expressed no opinion as to the truthfulness of the statement. As all the circumstances connected with the remarkable discovery were a little "off color," it could not afford to spoil a good item. If the GAZETTE did Mr. McGlashan an injustice it did not intend to, for it values his friendship too highly. It hopes he will find a sale for 10,000 copies of his "History of the Donner Party," but it cannot take much stock in the late find.

HARMLESS SHOOTING.

Alvaro Evans Fires a Couple Barrels of Bird Shot at J. N. Evans.

Newton and Alvaro Evans have been having trouble for a year or two past about the adjustment of their company affairs. Alvaro owns a tract of land in the western part of town and Newton owns one just beyond, that in order to get to be able to pass over a small portion of Alvaro's. Alvaro has recently fenced in his tract and warned Newton not to cross it, but this morning Newton went up, and in order to let his men and teams into his alfalfa field, where he is engaged in putting up a big crop of hay, cut the fence. Alvaro was notified of what Newton had done, and seizing his shot gun proceeded to the spot and fired a couple charges of bird shot at Newton. The wounds amount to nothing, however, and it is hoped that the trouble has been amicably settled and hostilities will cease. They are both old and respected residents of Reno and the trouble is greatly regretted by the whole community.

FOURTH OF JULY.

Towns That Will Celebrate the 115th Anniversary.

Of the many towns that will celebrate to-morrow, the GAZETTE observes that besides Reno, the following named towns will also "be in it," viz.: Tuscarora, Lamolite, Ely, Battle Mountain, Virginia City, Bodie and Independence, the last two, although being in California, are in the arid region and hence are classed as part of us. So taken altogether, we can look for light showers to follow the bursting of firecrackers and bombs, and also for the usual crop of lost fingers and hands from giant cartridge explosions. It is to be hoped that all will have a good time, even to the unfortunates that come up next day minus a few finger joints or with swelled heads.

Weather Observations.

Lieutenant Finley of San Francisco said yesterday that another disturbance was approaching Vancouver Island and the barometer was falling throughout the northern part of the Coast States and also through Nevada and Arizona. There was a fall everywhere under the influence of the new storm. The barometer at Winnemucca had finally fallen below the normal by .06, the record being 29.96. This was a fall of .12 in twelve hours. The barometer was still higher in Nevada than it was on the California Coast, however. Therefore the cooling-off process, while it was steady, was necessarily slow. The barometer was falling in Arizona, making the weather gradually cooler in Southern California.

JOE MULHATTON.

The American Munchausen Found Insane.

The other day "Joe" Mulhatton, famous as the worst of the "big story" newspaper fends, was found wandering about the streets of Chicago in a dazed condition, and is now locked up in the Detention Hospital for the Insane. For many years his constant aim has been to startle the world with remarkable stories, or "fakes," as such productions are known in newspaper offices.

Mulhatton's famous goose story first appeared in the form of a dispatch from Atlanta, Ga. A gentleman had seen a countryman driving ten or twelve geese toward a cotton-patch. Here is the story of what followed: "What is that you have on the necks of those geese?" said the gentleman.

"Those are gourd full of water. I drive the geese into that cotton patch and keep them there all day weeding out the cotton. There is no water in the cotton patch, and I have to give them water, and this is the way to keep them there. Those geese will weed out more cotton in a day than two people would. They will eat the grass and weeds, but they won't touch the cotton."

"But how do they get water out of those gourds under their necks?" "They drink out of each other's gourd. Each gourd has an opening in the side, so that another geese can put his bill into the gourd and drink. If you will stay here long enough you will see it for yourself."

"And sure enough," added the gentleman (who had followed the geese to the patch), "when the geese wanted water they drank from each other's gourds."

THE GIRL QUEEN.

Wilhelmina of Holland Makes Her First Public Appearance.

Little Queen Wilhelmina of Holland has just been making her first official journey, and the Dutch have been as excited over it as Dutchmen can be about anything. The dainty young lady, accompanied by Queen Regent Emma, went from The Hague to Rotterdam, in which prosperous commercial city she was received by a procession of a hundred thousand citizens and by plenty of cannon thunder.

The royal ship was followed, as it entered the beautiful channel of the Maas, by a flotilla of sixty ships and steamers. As the long line of noble crafts wound in and out between the green banks lined with windmills, and with elegant villas embowered in that foliage nowhere so prevalent as in Holland in summer, the young Queen only 10 years old, clapped her hands and fairly danced with delight.

When the Queen's ship reached the quay at Rotterdam, the sovereign was almost frightened at the crowds, and at first could not be prevailed upon to take her place in the official cortege. But when she was assured that in all the thousands of rough-looking workers hanging from alcoves, and perched in trees, or clustering on the wings of windmills, there were none unfriendly to her, she entered her carriage, and standing up, made a gracious bow to all.

This was her first presentation to the masses over whom she is to rule.

TO-MORROW'S EXERCISES.

To-morrow Reno will celebrate the glorious Fourth with the spirit of 1776. Every arrangement has been made for entertaining visitors and our own people. Grand Marshal Hamilton has appointed the following aids, who are requested to report to Assistant Marshal A. A. Evans at 7 o'clock this evening:

MINT MATTERS.

Ten Per Cent Reduction All Around and All at Work.

The Appeal of yesterday says concerning Mint employees: Yesterday the discharged employees of the Mint were notified to return to work with a reduction of ten per cent in wages. The evening before Superintendent Wright called a meeting of the officers and laid the proposition before them of reducing ten per cent all around in wages to enable the Mint to run full handed. The proposition was laid before the employees who were retained and there was no dissenting voice. Mint Director Leech was notified and accepted the proposition at once.

Mrs. Hawley Dying.

The Tribune of last evening says that Judge Hawley received a dispatch which called him to Santa Barbara, to the bedside of his wife, who is evidently near death's door. It read: "Come immediately, the end is near." Mrs. Hawley has been sick for years and her death has been almost daily expected.

Decorations were flung to the breeze by a majority of the business houses to-day, and Virginia street, especially, looks quite brilliant in red, white and blue bunting and many flags.

It was ordered that the windows of the Flower school-house be nailed up during vacation, so says the Virginia Chronicle of last evening.

That's closing the school with an emphasis, that shuts out the bad boy very effectively. "Hi boys, git a pocket full of rocks."

Beatty, who was shot by Booth at Candelaria, is in a critical condition. The doctor in attendance failed to extract the bullet. The patient recently had a fit of coughing which brought on a hemorrhage, a great deal of blood being lost. The condition of Beatty is such that bail was refused, and the prisoner remains in jail.

"Now, Johnny, if six men can do a piece of work in one day, how long will it take one man to do it?" asked a New York teacher of a sharp little boy. "The school teacher is a blunderer," whispered Johnny in that question, "whispered Johnny in a low voice to the next boy. "Speak out, Johnny; I dare say you are right," replied the pedagogue.

Palace Dry Goods House.

Attention is called to the ad. of the Palace Dry Goods House in this issue of the GAZETTE, which announces the Summer Clearance Sale, commencing July 6th. All summer goods must go, and for this purpose the prices have been put down to such figures that none need go without reasonable dress goods. Consult the ad. and judge for yourself of the extreme low prices. It is like giving away goods.

A Dead Squaw.

The Tuscarora Times-Review of Tuesday says: A young squaw, about 17 years of age, died at a campbody near town Sunday evening or early yesterday morning from a knife wound in her throat. She was sick and emaciated, and both murder and suicide are hinted at. The Indians are very reticent in regard to the matter, and dislike to be questioned regarding it.
